FATHER DAVE

I think our country needs patriotism. I say this, but I do not want to confuse patriotism with the United States flag. Patriotism has much to do with love for our country and its peoples. It has little to do with the national flag as such. It has much to do with the national flag if it symbolizes the true patriotism we have.

My ancestors, who arrived here years before 1492 and 1776, suffered much from a later greed. I pray for the country, its people and its leaders, but I do not gloss over injustice. I helped install two flagpoles of noble size, one in each parish, but I show my patriotism more by praying for the country than by any other way. At Mass I show my patriotism and subordinate it to the Liturgy. I want to celebrate God's goodness to us by thanking him and praising his name, not by glorifying the nation at the expense of God's glory.

I encourage you to join us in praising God on the occasion of the two hundred thirtieth anniversary of the birth of the United States at 9:00 on Tuesday.

LITURGY

When do we get to make personal intentions at Mass; the petitions all seem so general? You have made a good observation. The petitions by their nature concentrate on the general. The documents of the liturgy call them the General Intercessions.

When do we make particular petitions or intentions? We do it at the start of Mass before the opening prayer, often called the Collect. When the priest says, "Let us pray", he should give us time to make our own intentions for Mass. He will then collect them into the Collect Prayer.

The general intercessions invite us to pray for the needs of others. We pray for four general intentions, the needs of the Church, the needs of the country and world, the needs of the community and the needs of the poor. The petitions should include at least one in each category. The petitions ask; they do not express thanksgiving.

The petitions should challenge us without offending us. They should avoid partisan politics and pet projects. They should exhort and encourage, but not preach. They should not detail our solutions to problems. I find the best petitions merely state a subject for which to pray without taking a stand for or against. If I suggest we pray for terrorists, I do not imply that I like them. If I suggest prayer for the President, I do not imply that I do not like him. I merely ask for prayer because enemies and friends all need prayer.

MASS AT MINSTER

Archbishop Daniel Pilarczyk and Father Rick Nieberding will celebrate Mass at Augustine Church, Minster on Tuesday, July 11 at 7:30 p.m. in thanks to God for the fruits of the earth. Fellowship and refreshments will be provided after Mass.
