FATHER DAVE

Congratulations to Quincy and Stuart Baltes. Quincy received the Parvuli Dei Medal from the Archbishop last Sunday in the Cathedral and Stuart received the Light of Christ Emblem before the 9:30 Mass at Holy Family Church last week. The Light of Christ Emblem for younger Cub Scouts and the Parvuli Dei Emblem for older Cub Scouts, represent two of four religious emblems programs for Catholic in Boy Scouting. The Cub Scout emblems focus on the Cub and his family. The Ad Altare Dei Emblems focus on the sacraments for younger Boy Scouts. The Pope Pius XII emblem for older Scouts and members of Venture Crews, focuses on adult careers and vocations. Other religions and denominations have similar programs, supported and recognized by the Boy Scouts of America in keeping with the tenth point of the Scout Law, which teaches reverence to the Scout. The Catholic Church has similar programs for Girl Scouts and 4-H. Congratulations to Quincy and Stuart Baltes.

LITURGY

If we should ever digitalize Liturgy, it would fall apart. We can digitalize things, but we cannot digitalize human life. Technology tries to separate events into very distinct segments. We cannot do this with life or liturgy without destroying them; life proceeds in analog, not digital.

The technology that produced contraceptives has imposed the digital on life by separating procreation and education of children from each other. People no longer have to see marriage, sexual intercourse, conception, commitment, birth and other facets of human reproduction as intrinsically linked to one another. They can also view pregnancy as a disease. As a result, society in general has come to accept divorce, a lack of respect for marriage, increase of abortion, sexual activity as recreation and a tendency to see any union of two people as equivalent to marriage, despite the increase of venereal diseases.

Technology does not work on human life; it can destroy marriage, life and liturgy. Our liturgy, life and marriages work better as analog than as digital.

ISSUES ABOUT LIFE

Flu shots and Vitamin C can help keep us healthy this winter. Writing to our Congressman and senators can help prevent the introduction or passage of a freedom of choice act. We can argue that we do not need prevention, and maybe we do not, but perhaps we do. Many people have expressed concern over The Freedom of Choice Act. The name says one thing, but the reality would give some people no choice. The National Right to Life has provided postcards you can send to our lawmakers in Washington to urge them not to consider legislation like freedom of choice.

You should find postcards in the bulletin. Please send them, write a letter, send an e-mail or phone our senators and congressman.
